Seminar Report

Event: Domestic Violence and Women Security

Date: 20-02-2023

Time: 12:00 PM to 4:00 PM

Location: Room No.-05

Organized by: Department of Home Science

The Department of Home Science, chaired by Diptiben Nimavat, successfully organized a one-day seminar on "Domestic Violence and Women Security" on 20-02-2023. The seminar aimed to address the urgent social issues of domestic violence and women's security, providing a platform for in-depth discussions and awareness. The event, held from 12:00 PM to 4:00 PM in Room No.-05, featured a series of presentations and interactive sessions led by experts in the field. The seminar commenced with Krishna Rehvar's opening remarks, emphasizing the critical need to address domestic violence and enhance women's security in our society. The presentations covered various aspects, including the psychological, legal, and social dimensions of domestic violence, offering comprehensive insights and potential solutions.

The interactive sessions facilitated active engagement between participants and speakers, fostering a deeper understanding of the issues and encouraging collaborative discussions on effective strategies to combat domestic violence and improve women's security. Responsibilities for logistical coordination, content development, and participant engagement were meticulously handled by the committee members, ensuring the seminar's smooth execution. The event concluded with a strong commitment from attendees to continue efforts toward raising awareness and implementing measures to protect women from domestic violence. The Department of Home Science expressed gratitude to all contributors for their dedication and participation, reaffirming its commitment to addressing critical social issues through educational initiatives and community engagement.
